Abstract
Oral English ability is a challenge for Indonesian students, as an oral skill that students must master when learning English. Therefore, before speaking English, we must be confident in public speaking. Without confidence, we cannot communicate our ideas to the public. One of the successes in learning English can be measured by proficiency in English language skills. Confidence in speaking English needs to be improved again, practice every day so that confidence in speaking English is always changing and can be improved. The researchers of this study are currently analyzing the student self-confidence practice in public speaking at the tenth grade of ICT major of SMK Canda Bhirawa Pare. This research used qualitative research method. This qualitative research method was conducted through four instruments. They were as follows: (1) Observation (2) Interview (3) Questionnaire (4) Documentation. The result of this research is to know the strategy the teacher to build self-confident and the students' responses toward self-confidence at SMK Canda Bhirawa Pare. The research result showed that the students of SMK Canda Bhirawa showed that some students lack confidence when speaking in public, which is determined based on data from teachers and direct observations from the author. Researcher asked about students' responses self-confidence, and students also have a high negative thought, do not believe in their abilities and are always pessimistic.

Keywords: Self-Confidence, Public Speaking.
Introduction

1. Research Background

English is the most important language in terms of number of speakers and the third most widely spoken national language in the world after Mandarin Chinese and Spanish. It is the most widely spoken second language and she is one of the official languages or official dialects of some 60 sovereign countries. More people learn it as a second language than native speakers. Bough (2008:7) “English is the mother tongue of countries whose numerical prominence is impressively endorsed by a combination of political influence, economic soundness, commercial activity, social well-being, and scientific and cultural contributions to civilization”. English is, therefore, the main key to unlocking vast treasures. A treasure trove of world knowledge as the lingua franca of the world with its rich vocabulary and rich history, English can serve and bridge nations and even the world3.

As Ur (1991; 120) states, “Of the four skills (listening, speaking, reading and writing), speaking intuitively seems to be the most important”. "A person who has mastered a language is called a speaker of that language, as if speaking includes all other kinds of knowledge.” Speaking is a very important skill for conveying ideas. Students studying English as a foreign language need to acquire speaking skills in order to communicate their ideas easily, effectively and confidently4.

There are some students who claim English is difficult, therefore they find it challenging to speak English in front many people, unlike speaking Indonesian. This is a common issue among Indonesian students who have a strong influence from their mother language and may not perceive the importance of learning English. Additionally, building confidence in speaking, which is usually a big concern for many Indonesian students, is a major problem for teachers to solve. Students feel embarrassed when they are wrong and feel bad when they make mistakes when speaking. Communicating with unfamiliar words and sounds can be stressful and difficult. Researcher believe that this is the main reason why English is becoming an international language today, and because the age of globalization is coming, the ability of non-English-speaking people to use English is essential in the age of globalization. It concludes that it is necessary to consider that there is number it concludes that it is necessary to consider that there is number. Moat (2016:88) “say speaking appears to be an important skill for learners must get. When it comes to skills that are very important for students to learn and master, it is the basis of language learning. Speaking of maintaining an important role her speaking goal in learning English is to help students become proficient in oral English communication”. Conversation is necessary for humans to interact with each other. When speaking many things to keep in mind not just related to what is being said, who the interlocutor is, as well as the language used. Additionally, a good speaker should: pay attention to the topic he/she is talking about, the language he/she is speaking It was easily understood by listeners and interlocutors. with this, Speech is a tool for communicating ideas that are arranged and developed according to the needs of the listener (taiga, 1987, cited in Masada, 2008) This means that the speaker must strive to articulate his thoughts and ensure that those thoughts are well received according to what the listener wants.

Speech skills are the ability to speak fluently and express thoughts and ideas. To develop this skill, speakers must master vocabulary and phrases, have correct pronunciation, and speak confidently. The ability to speak with confidence is the ability to speak in greater detail in the form of statements and ideas in the early stages of speaking, better deciphered and not afraid to express them. According to Nunan (2003), speaking is an oral skill, a system language for conveying meaning. He adds that speaking is his ability to express ideas, feelings, thoughts, feelings and responds verbally to other speakers. Speaking is the productive ability of oral language when students speak. The product of text and it should make sense with the kind of communication students can find speaker, listener, message, feedback. That speaking is an activity here are some examples of speaking activities to verbally express feelings and thoughts lines, interviews, speech acts, etc. Cameron (2001:10) says that “Speaking is the active use of language to express meaning in a way that others can understand it. To speak in a foreign language and share understanding with others requires the precise details of the language attention must be paid to.” Some researchers believe that speaking skills are an important part of the language curriculum.

Self-confidence is one of the factors that play an important role in determining self-worth. Learners' willingness to communicate about speaking ability confidence is an important part language skill which is inspired, motivate and motivate learners. Because when learners have a high level of self-confidence, they perform best achievement of speaking fluency. Confidence plays an important role in communication games, especially for learner willingness to communicate. Because confidence affects their abilities, high self-confidence may be positively correlated with oral performance Therefore, students who are more confident than others students are good at communicating. So you have better language skills in English than other students. This is supported by the statement that contextual self-awareness in communication plays an important role in determining a learner's motivation to learn willingness to communicate. (Lee and Park, 2004:206). From the above description, we all know how important self-confidence is in helping students' learning process. There is a lack of self-confidence in learning speaking among students due to several factors. In order to know exactly what students in general, and students in SMK CANDA BHIRAWA PARE, face with this problem, researcher observed and organized the results of this study to identify the factors that influence student of self-confidence. Based on the background above, the researcher will analyse the problem by conducting a research under the title “AN ANALYSIS OF STUDENT SELF-CONFIDENCE PRACTICE IN PUBLIC SPEAKING AT THE TENTH GRADE ICT MAJOR OF SMK CANDA BHIRAWA PARE”.

2. Research Objectives
   The objective statement can formulated as this aims To analyze students’ responses toward self-confidence practice in public speaking.

3. Research Contributions
   The significance of the study actually is able to give beneficial for students, readers and writer. This research is divided into several parts, including:
   1. For the students
      The result of the research, the researcher hopes to help them to know their students’ self-confidence in speaking. In order to they can consider and able to undertake a decisions about how they should be have a certain confidence to start speaking in front of the class with no shyness and nervousness. They can also can develop and use of it in daily life in learning activities more actively and can speak confidently.
   2. For the Readers
      The writer hopes that the results of this study can improve their speaking and to be able to apply confidence to speak.
   3. For the writers
      The results of this study, the researcher hopes that it can be useful for English learner who do not have self-confidence in public and the researcher hopes the writers can be add the knowledge to the thesis who wants to conduct research an analysis of student self-confidence practice in public speaking.

Research Method

   According to Creswell “Research design is planning, research procedures that make decisions based on common assumptions detailed methods of data collection and analysis”. Decisions affect Researchers incorporate the following strategies into their research conduct: methodological approach, data collection strategy, sample of participants, and technology to analyze data. The research design of this study is qualitative descriptive research. This study is conducted to explain the student’s self-confidence practice in public speaking at the tenth grade ICT major of SMK CANDA BHIRAWA PARE. According to (Bryman, 2012) Qualitative research is educational research researchers leverage participant experience to analyze data by participants’ words and paragraphs rather than by quantification data collection and analysis10. In qualitative research, the importance of individuals or groups sharing social or human problems is explored and understood. Data collected from participants are analyzed from specific to general before interpreting the meaning of the data11. Therefore, this survey is suitable to apply in this study to obtain information from participants. Data can be obtained through interviews, documentation, observations, audiovisual and image sources. In this study, researcher would like to use interviews as a data collection tool12.

The research was conducted at SMK CANDA BHIRAWA PARE. SMK CANDA BHIRAWA is located in Jln. PB. Sudirman Pare Kec, Pare Kab. Kediri-East Java. ICT class of SMK CANDA BHIRAWA in Tenth grade have 3 Classes. In this research the researcher chose ICT of 2. The total number of the students is 40. The participants involved in this research are 2 teachers whom the researcher interviewed and 2 students whom the researcher interviewed. In collecting data, the researcher planned to research the students of ICT in SMK CANDA BHIRAWA PARE on May 16th, 2023.

The population of this study was chosen which the students of SMK CANDA BHIRAWA PARE were the subjects. The subjects were students of ICT 2 at tenth grade of SMK CANDA BHIRAWA PARE. The researcher used the simple random sampling as the technique. Simple random sampling is a widely used sampling method in scientific research. For populations with high homogeneity, simple random sampling is used and research participants are randomly selected to participate in the study13.

Technique of Data Collection the most important thing in this research is collecting the data that can determine the result of the research. The research instruments for qualitative is following:

1. Observation
Observation takes place in the classroom and beyond during the learning process. Observation during learning was done to detect student lack of self-confidence. During observation, non-learning work was performed to acquire supporting data. To measure student confidence, researcher counted students who showed signs of self-confidence14. This technique was used by the researcher in her research the first day she have permission to the teacher, the teacher allowed her to research in there. And the researcher gave the letter to the teacher in office. The teacher asked to the researcher to the next day for waiting the information for her research. Then she accepted to do it. The researcher did observation in SMK Canda Bhirawa Pare, the class which was chosen by the teacher was TKJ 2. In TKJ Major there were 3 classes of tenth grade in SMK Canda Bhirawa Pare. But, the researcher got TKJ 2 the teacher picked the researcher up to the class. In the class was crowded due to the students consist of 40 students, most of them boys and the girls are a half of boys. The teacher opened the class and introduced herself to the students; in her research the teacher introduced to them for about her planning to come there for researcher their class. They heard her well and she told them that she needed their hands to help the researcher finish her research. The researcher said to them that she would give them questionnaire, interview and observations their class also. During the class the researcher observed their class was active students and also they liked togetherness each other’s. During the activity the researcher saw the way of learning activity the teacher gave the explanation the material about produce text and gave them the example about it. The teacher gave the sources to them from Google or another. The teacher asked them to do it the task which the teacher gave and before conducting the task the teacher asked them to make a group it consist of 5 group.

2. Interview

(Creswell : 2012) Interviews are used when researcher interview a subset of participants and record their responses to obtain detailed information about the participants’ thoughts, knowledge, reasons, motivations, beliefs, and feelings about a topic\textsuperscript{15}. After doing observation, the researcher did the interview with the two teachers and two students. In this interview was used to get the information from the participants and each participants interviewed about 10-15 minutes. The researcher did the interviewed by using a questions which the researcher made. The questions consist of 10 questions and the questions for about self-confidence of students in SMK Canda Bhirawa. The interview was using a smartphone to record the result of interview.

3. Questionnaire

Questionnaires (Sugiyono, 2018) explain that a questionnaire is a technique of data collection that involves posing a series of questions or requesting written responses from respondents. The purpose of questionnaires is to collect information from respondents in the form of reports about themselves or knowledge they have\textsuperscript{16}. And that each participant completed the questionnaire on Google form and the questionnaire consists of 10 questions\textsuperscript{17}. The third technique which the researcher used was \textsuperscript{15} ABD. RAFID, “The Effect of Community of Practice on Students’ Confidence In Public Speaking”, 2020, p. 36.

Questionnaire. The benefit of using the questionnaire is the study of what they think about self-confidence if speaking in public and how they deal with if they lack confidence.

4. Documentation

This technique shows the data in the form of picture. The pictures will be collected by using smartphone as the instrument. The documentation could take in the school of activity their studying, their interview. In the research the researcher took the documentation or the processing in learning activity and the process of interview with the teachers and students.

Presentation the data is collecting of information that consists of inference possibilities, showing the data in graphic, matrix, or narrative type. It is designed for semantic and easy to understand. The display of reduced data in the form of a pattern is referred to as data display. This is helpful in helping onlookers comprehend the facts. The data to be picked and concentrated are formed and grouped as in a narrative text, which will be supported by observations, on the basis of data presentation.

The researcher showed the data presentation by using 4 instruments. The first was observation the researcher display the data did the observation in the place which the researcher took. The researcher observed the learning activity in the class and observed the teacher taught.

The second the researcher used the interview. The researcher showed it by using interview with 2 teachers and 2 students. The researcher served the question to the 2 teachers and 2 students.

The third was questionnaire. The researcher used question because she wanted to know the problem of students and what the student responses about the problem which is made. It can show the results for questionnaire, and the results also can show in the diagrams in 4 chapters. The last was documentation, the researcher used to know the way of learning activity in their class.

Findings and Discussion

Student response and the importance of confidence in English language. Based on the results of analysis and discussion, it can be concluded that the students' self-confidence practice in public speaking at the tenth grade ICT Major of SMK Canda Bhirawa in popularization was less classified. From students self-confidence practice in public speaking still have difficulties communicating in speaking, lack of practice, fear of making mistakes in grammar and pronunciation and feel nervous when delivering the speech. And the importance of confidence is making us looking for a job and can interact with people outside (foreigner) and can have many friends.

Suggestions

Based on the explanation above, the researcher has a suggestion for the students, the teachers, and also the further researchers. The expert of researcher could give some suggestions who were involved in this research. The suggestions will be explained as the following:

1. For the students

   They must believe in their ability to speak English and set aside enough time to practice English at school and in daily activity in home. In addition, students need to use English to communicate in real life.

2. For the teachers

   When teaching English to students, teachers should consider the student's level, especially in terms of speaking skills to know the best techniques to use during the learning process. Teachers should be flexible in their use of teaching techniques. The teachers can use interesting and engaging techniques in the classes to motivate their students to study and to give them confidence in speaking English. The teacher's attitude during class is also important to build the confidence of the students. In order for students to be more active during the learning process, they need to be friendly.

3. For the further researcher

   The final project can be used as the references to conduct in the next research. The researcher suggests conducting broader or more specific research on teacher strategies and student confidence for the following researchers. Therefore, research will be more interesting and detailed in order to obtain better results in the future.
